

A Note From the Editor -- 4/10/14

A Note From the Editor

Dear Friends,

As you may have noticed, VIB has been getting a large volume of spam in the comment sections attached to many articles. The spam attacks are also the cause of the recent instability and frequent error messages that have been popping up. For this reason, the comments feature on individual articles has been disabled at this time. We will retain the Daily Scream comment string for you to conduct discussions until a permanent solution is put in place. VIB is running on a very old and decrepit architecture. We will be moving forward with a much needed site upgrade in the near future. More on this soon.

Thank you for your patience, and apologies for the inconvenience.

Marc Garman – Editor VIB